

SDT WFIRST Science

Paul Schechter
MIT

Abstract: The WFIRST interim design reference mission describes a suite of science programs that will come very close to achieving the goals set forth in the report of the 2010 Decadal Survey Committee. A "straw man" allocation of the first five years of telescope time will be presented. Particular attention will be paid to describing how mandated programs that drive the design in opposing directions are accommodated.